SAFE STAFFING

All employees' temporary workers and volunteers are subject to a careful selection process, as follows:

Safer Recruitment and Pre-Employment Checks

- At short listing stage, application forms are assessed to ascertain whether the individual has the appropriate skills, knowledge and background to undertake the duties of the post for which they are applying. Applicants are required to complete self-disclosure about previous convictions. Any gaps in employment or inconsistencies are identified and investigated with the individual. Interviews are conducted with a minimum of two people and specific questions are asked about protection of children/young people/vulnerable adults to ascertain whether the individual is suitably aware of potential risks to those groups.
- Offers of employment are made subject to satisfactory pre-employment checks, and occupational reference checks are made simultaneous to the offer of employment. Individuals have to provide two referees, one of whom must be their last employer, training provider or education setting.

- We will not accept open references, or rely on an applicant to obtain their own references. As well as ensuring the referee is not a family member.
- Where electronic references are concerned, we will ensure they are from a legitimate source and the email address is from a company and not a personal email address.
- Where any information is falsely submitted or where information is provided which gives cause for concern, withdrawal of conditional offer of employment is considered, if necessary.
- Other checks include an individual's eligibility to work in the EU, their identity and the validity of their qualifications.
- Relevancy assessments for Disclosure and Barring (DBS) are carried out for all who routinely deal with protection issues or who may find themselves alone with children in the course of their duties. DBS checks are routinely repeated every three years. Where any offence is disclosed by the DBS, these are investigated fully, having consideration of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974, Protection of Freedom Act 2012. Offers of employment or placement may be withdrawn; employees or volunteers moved or dismissed where necessary.
- Staff members required to have a DBS Regulated check and will be required to enrol on the DBS update service.
- No unsupervised access to children/young people is allowed until these processes have been complete.
- In the event of a Positive DBS check a risk assessment will be carried out to assess risk of the individual within the role.

Prevent Duty

As a registered early year childcare provider, we are subject to a duty under section 26 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism. This duty is known as the Prevent duty.

This involves:

- Respond to the ideological challenges of terrorism
- Prevent people from being drawn into terrorism
- Work with sectors and institutions where there is a rise of radicalisation

- Prevent extremism (vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. Also calls for the death of members of our armed forces.)

The Prevent Strategy is based on 4 areas of work:

- Pursue: to stop terrorist attacks
- Prevent: to stop people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism
- Protect: to strengthen our protection against a terrorist attack
- Prepare: to mitigate the impact of a terrorist attack

Prevent: Curious Explorers

- It is essential that staff are able to identify children who may be vulnerable to radicalisation
- Protecting children from the risk of radicalisation is part of our safeguarding duties
- Build resilience to radicalisation by promoting fundamental British Values
- Promote community cohesion, equalities and well being
- Link with families and community groups

If you think a child is in danger of terrorism you should:

- Report it to the DSL straight away
- Phone police: 101 or 999 (flight risk) if an immediate risk is identified

Promoting British Values in the Early Years

At Curious Explorers we always promote British Values. We ensure British values are incorporated in our daily routines and we do not plan specific 'lessons' to teach children British values. They are included in everything we do.

See British Values in the Early Years document.

Domestic Violence and Abuse

Domestic violence and abuse (DVA) is the abuse of one person over another who is, or has been, in a relationship. The abuse may be verbal, sexual, physical, emotional, financial or psychological. Both men and women can be abused or abusers. It occurs in all groups and sections of society and may be experienced differently to, and compounded by racism, sexuality, disability, age, religion, culture or class.

The definition of 'domestic violence and abuse' was updated in March 2013 to include the reality that many young people are experiencing domestic abuse and violence in relationships at a young age.

Children may:

- Witness the outcome after the event, by seeing or hearing the violence.
- Be used by the perpetrator to intimidate/blackmail the victim.
- Think that they have triggered the violence.
- Be affected by the physical and emotional effects on the victim.
- Get drawn into violence towards the victim.
- Be physically, emotionally or sexually abused or neglected.

Staff at Curious Explorers acknowledges they may be working with children experiencing violence at home. Staff understand children experiencing abuse may be affected in a number of different ways.

We are committed to supporting the wellbeing and safety of children and acknowledge the profound and damaging effects of DVA on them.

Staff should be able to recognise the signs of DVA, which include:

- Victim tries to hide injuries, or minimises their extent or cause, appears frightened, overly anxious or depressed and/or is submissive or afraid to speak in front of the partner.
- Partner always attends unnecessarily and may refuse to leave, and/or may be aggressive or dominant.
- Children showing the signs and symptoms of physical, emotional, sexual abuse and/or neglect.

We are committed to taking positive action against DVA and to actively support victims and protect children.

When any staff becomes aware of domestic abuse within a family, they should make an assessment as to the impact on the child. The member of staff should inform the DSL who should consider a referral to CSPA . In circumstances where there have been 3 known incidents of domestic abuse, a referral must be made to the CSPA team. (Details at end of document)

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), is a form of physical abuse against children. FGM is also known as female circumcision or female genital cutting. FGM has no health benefits, and it harms girls and women in many ways. It involves removing and damaging healthy and normal female genital tissue and interferes with the natural functions of girls' and women's bodies. FGM is defined by the World Health Organisation as "all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons". FGM has no health benefits for girls and women and procedures can cause severe bleeding and problems urinating, and later cysts, infections, infertility as well as complications in childbirth.

FGM is classified into four major types:

- Clitoridectomy: partial or total removal of the clitoris and, in very rare cases, only the prepuce.
- Excision: partial or total removal of the clitoris and the labia minora, with or without excision of the labia majora.
- Infibulations: narrowing of the vaginal opening through the creation of a covering seal. The seal is formed by cutting and repositioning the inner, or outer, labia, with or without removal of the clitoris.
- Other: all other harmful procedures to the female genitalia for non-medical purposes, e.g. pricking, piercing, incising, scraping and cauterizing the genital area

FGM is practised around the world in various forms across all major faiths. The majority of FGM takes place in 28 African and Middle Eastern countries, and also includes other parts of the world; Middle East, Asia, and in industrialised nations through migration which includes Europe, North America, Australia and New Zealand.

The Female Genital Mutilation Act was introduced in 2003 and came into effect in March 2004. It was made illegal to:

- Practice FGM in the UK.
- Take girls who are British nationals or permanent residents of the UK abroad for FGM whether or not it is lawful in that country.
- Aid, counsel or procure the carrying out of FGM abroad.

If staff are concerned about a child who is danger of this procedure or suspect a child has suffered FGM they must:

- Report it to the DSL straight away
- Contact the CSPA team (Details at end of document) and in some cases where there is immediate harm contact the police 101 or 999.

Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriages

Honour Based Violence (HBV) is a term used to describe violence committed within the context of the extended family which are motivated by a perceived need to restore standing within the community, which is presumed to have been lost through the behaviour of the victim.

Forced marriage is a marriage in which one or both of the parties is married without his or her consent or against his or her will. A forced marriage differs from an arranged marriage, in which both parties' consent to the assistance of their parents or a third party (such as a matchmaker) in identifying a spouse.

When any staff becomes aware of HBV/Forced Marriage within a family they should make an assessment as to the impact on the child. The member of staff should inform the DSL who should consider a referral to the CSPA team (Details at end of document) or contact the police 101 or 999.

Breast Ironing

What is breast ironing?

Breast Ironing is practiced in some African countries, notably Cameroon. Girls aged between 9 and 15 have hot pestles, stones or other implements rubbed on their developing breast to stop them growing further. In the vast majority of cases breast ironing is carried out by mothers or grandmothers and the men in the family are unaware. Estimates range between 25% and 50% of girls in Cameroon are affected by breast ironing, affecting up to 3.8 million women across Africa.

Breast ironing is a form of physical abuse that has been condemned by the United Nations and identified as Gender-based Violence. Although, countries where breast ironing is prevalent have ratified the African Charter on Human Rights to prevent harmful traditional practices, it is not against the law. Breast ironing does not stop the breasts from growing, but development can be slowed down. Damage caused by the 'ironing' can leave women with malformed breasts, difficulty breastfeeding or producing milk, severe chest pains, infections and abscesses. In some cases, it may be related to the onset of breast cancer.

Concerns have been raised that breast ironing is also to be found amongst African communities in the UK, with as many as 1,000 girls at risk. Keeping Children Safe in Education (2016) mentions breast ironing on page 54, as part of the section on so-called 'Honour Violence'.

Staff concerned about a child who is danger of this procedure or suspect a child has suffered breast ironing they must

- Report it to the DSL straight away
- Contact the CSPA team (Details at end of document) and in some cases where there is immediate harm contact the police 101 or 999

Child Sex Exploitation

Child sexual exploitation (CSE) is the coercion or manipulation of children and young people into taking part in sexual activities.

It is a form of sexual abuse involving an exchange of some form of payment which can include money, mobile phones and other items, drugs, alcohol, a place to stay, 'protection' or affection.

The vulnerability of the child or young person and grooming process employed by perpetrators renders them powerless to recognise the exploitative nature of relationships and unable to give informed consent.

All children and young people are at risk of being sexually exploited, regardless of age, gender or where they live.

We have a responsibility for keeping children who attend Curious Explorers safe. We are also vigilant for signs of risk that indicate that (older) siblings may be vulnerable to sexual exploitation.

Curious Explorers Ltd is committed to creating and maintaining the safest possible environment for children in which to be cared and educated.

All staff is trained in all areas of Safeguarding and updated on these aspects regularly.

It is our responsibility as Early Years professionals to ensure that no child should experience abuse of any kind and we recognise our responsibility to safeguard the welfare of all children, by a commitment to practice which protects them.
